100 PERSONS STRICKEN AT BIG DINNER

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—One hundred persons who attended a Glendale church dinner were reported suffering from food poisoning tonight as health authorities sought the source of vegetables blamed for a wave of illness here.

In addition to the church dinner, 16 cases of apparent arsenic poisoning, believed caused by too strong vegetable spray were under observation.

Checking a list of 290 who attended the Glendale supper last Wednesday, health officials announced 100 were made ill, and of this number, 30 suffered pronounced attacks. All were reported recovering.

NRA Supersedes Codes Adopted Under CIRA

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—UP—A federal code for any industry adopted under the NRA supercedes a state code approved under the California Industrial Recovery act, Attorney General U. S. Webb rule today.

The opinion held that codes promulgated under the CIRA remain in effect only so long as the trade or industry involved is not governed by a code approved by the president under the NRA. Upon adoption of a federal code, the state code is superseded in all respects.

State Administrator Daugherty asked the opinion. The substance of his question was whether the federal code, coming for a trade or industry already regulated by a state recovery code, supercedes all provisions of the state code which governs strictly intra-state business.

The affirmative answer will clarify many vital problems of administration which have harassed both state and federal authorities, Daugherty said.

Machado And Pals Termed As Outlaws

HAVANA, Oct. 16.—UP—Charges of murder and malfeasance filed against former President Machado and 26 persons connected with his regime which was overthrown in August were admitted formally tonight by Judge Morales Del Castillo.

Machado, who is in Montreal and other absentees in the list of accused, were declared to be outlaws. The court ordered seizure of property of the defendants valued at $25,000,000 as bond for civil responsibility.

Found Guilty Of Harboring Kellys

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Oct. 16.—UP—Will Casey, a Coleman county farmer, was found guilty by a federal court jury here tonight on charges of conspiracy to harbor George (Machine Gun) Kelly and his wife, two members of the gang which kidnapped Charles F. Urschel, Cass Coleman, another farmer, pleaded guilty to the same charge earlier today. Charges of harboring and concealing the Kellys, filed against both men, were dismissed. Sentence will be passed on both men tomorrow.

Mrs. C. L. Hunt, 623 Fifth street, is confined to her home by illness.

16 INDICTED IN COTTON RIOT FRUIT CO. TO SHIP FROM HERE

NEW STRIKE OUTBREAK IS HELD NEAR

VISALIA, Oct. 16.—UP—Sixteen Mexicans held in the Tulare county jail here were indicted by the grand jury tonight on charges of rioting and resisting officers.

The Mexicans were striking cotton pickers arrested on the R. Taylor ranch, south of Pixley, last Tuesday.

Fellow strikers who met at Pixley to protest their arrest were allegedly attacked by farmers. Two strikers were killed.

The grand jury tomorrow will consider murder complaints filed against nine cotton ranchers, also held here.

The grand jury today investigated the case of Pat Chambers, strike leader, charged with criminal syndicalism, but took no action. Chambers is held in jail.

Strikers renewed activity to extend the cotton field tie-up in the valley instead of returning to work pending mediation efforts.

A Tulare farmer reportedly will make the first attempt tomorrow to break the strike by bringing cotton pickers in.

Twenty-five Indians will be brought from Tulare river reservation to pick the farmer's crop, it was declared at Tulare.

The strike deadlock continued in full force in the Tulare, Woodville, Pixley area.

Pedestrian Hit By Car, Injured

John Atkins, 33, of Berkeley, is at the county hospital at Martinez, suffering severe injuries received in an automobile accident in El Cerrito Sunday.

Atkins was struck by a car driven by Mario Lanza, of San Francisco, after he had allegedly walked in front of the machine.

Seven Streets to Be Oiled By Council

On the recommendation of Frank E. Tiller, of the street committee, the council last evening ordered a number of streets in the Pullman and Stege sections surfaced and oiled. The residents complain about the dust in the summer time, and the impassable condition of the streets in the winter.

The proposed work will involve an expenditure of about $800 and will take in portions of the following streets: Bay View, Jefferson, Fifty-fifth, Forty-fifth, Ohio, Center and Florida.

The portions of the streets to be improved are all east of the Southern Pacific tracks.

Gambling Joints Raided by Police

Sheriff R. R. Veale and District Attorney James F. Hoey Sunday night raided two alleged gambling joints in Richmond Annex and seized a number of gambling outfits and arrested three Chinese: Jim Mow Quon, 28, Sam Ching, 55, and Harry Chan.

The places raided were the Eagle Beer Hall and the Sunset Inn, where the three men were arrested. The games were not in Mrs. Grover E. Milnes at 332 Forth operation at the time of the raid.

Polar Pilot

COMMODORE H. F. Gjersten of the Norwegian Royal Navy, who is chief in command of both the ships of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, and will be responsible for piloting the vessels through the dangerous ice floes of the Far South.

Hedley Bray Indictment To Be Asked

As a result of the inquest held yesterday afternoon by Coroner Aubrey Wilson into the cause of the death of Mrs. Ollie O'Dell, who met a tragic end on the Avon highway a week ago, criminal action will likely follow today.

District Attorney James F. Hoey announced last evening at Martinez, that he would go before the grand jury and ask for indictment against Hedley Bray of El Cerrito.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict to the effect that Mrs. O'Dell met with death by shock, received when the automobiles driven by Derry Waldrop and Hedley Bray collided and charged the latter with reckless driving.

It will be remembered that the two cars sideswiped, and after an investigation a complaint was sworn to against Bray, charging him with driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Later Bray was arrested and afterwards released on $1,000 bail.

Man, Woman Are Sought In Mystery Death

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—UP—A mysterious red-haired woman and an Ohio farmer were sought tonight for questioning in the slaying of Mrs. Laura Ella Straw, 74-year-old widow whose mutilated body was found in San Diego bay.

The search was started by discovery of an automobile which police believe was used to transport Mrs. Straw's body from her cottage to the waterfront.

Information secured by police indicated the woman was the sweet heart of Thomas M. Jones, a farmer and ex-convict, who also is wanted. She is said to have telephoned Jones on Friday night, several hours before Mrs. Straw was slain in her home.

VISITS HIS DAUGHTER

Charles E. Robinson, well known merchant of Keseyville, Lake Inn, where the three men were arrested. The games were not in Mrs. Grover E. Milnes at 332 Forth operation at the time of the raid.

AMERICA TO KEEP OUT OF NEW MIX-UP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—UP—A high administration official made it clear today that the United States does not intend to become involved in European political quarrels arising from Germany's desertion of the World Disarmament conference.

Ambassador Norman H. Davis, it was stated, is in Geneva only to represent the United States in discussing disarmament, not to make political bargains. While he is prepared to cooperate in future efforts toward disarmament, he is expected to shun any diplomatic deciphering which would alien the United States on either side of European debates.

This statement was considered particularly significant because of its timing. It was made after officials here had an opportunity to read press dispatches from Europe in the morning papers expressing the hope of France that an Anglo-Franco-American front against Germany would be solidified.

Aide from this statement of policy, American officials were reluctant to discuss the dramatic situation in Europe brought about by Germany's departure from Geneva. Whether the World Disarmament conference expires at once or is kept alive for a while longer will depend, officials here pointed out, on informal conversations of next week.

In view of this government, the question of whether the disarmament conference can continue must be decided primarily by Europe. However, as pointed out previously by the United Press, Secretary (Continued on page 8)

Onetah Tribe In Plans For Annual Whist

Onetah Tribe of Redmen last night furthered plans for coming events at their meeting in their clubrooms.

On November 22 and 23, a turkey shoot will be held at the hall. It was stated. In addition to the shoot there will be a number of other games in progress, it was announced.

On November 27, the annual turkey whist party of the lodge will be held at the hall.

R. R. Condry presided last evening. Refreshments were donated by Pete Robbiano.

Committee members named for the whist are: R. H. Cunningham, chairman, Frank Marchetti, R. Daly, O. J. Ripley, Merle Jones, S. Luff, and F. Simone.

Sportsmen Hear Reports On Trip

Members of the Sportsman's Club of Richmond held a business session last night at Brotherhood hall with D. S. DeLaney, president, presiding.

A report was made on the fishing trip enjoyed Sunday by the group at Miller's place at Big Break. Local fishermen reported they caught a large number of good sized bass.

Next Friday a group of the members will return to the fishing grounds, it was decided. Other plans were discussed by the group.

Elected

MRS. W. H. BIESTER, JR., of Philadelphia, who was elected president of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion at the gathering of the Auxiliary in conjunction with the Legion convention in Chicago.

New Work On Local Harbor Is Under Way

With the arrival of the dredger "Long Beach" last week, work has been started on dredging the local harbor under terms of a contract left by the government recently.

The $95,000 contract calls for the widening of channels and creation of a large turning basin on the inner harbor. The Standard Dredging company has the contract.

The harbor channel will be dredged from outer harbor wharf to Point Potrero from 300 to 500 feet and the channel at Point Potrero will be widened to 1200 feet. The inner harbor channel will be improved, creating a turning basin 10,000 feet wide opposite the inner harbor terminal.

Four of those named are San Franciscans.

Mrs. Effie Martin, of Fresno, a warrant for whose arrest was issued at Los Angeles, now wishes to surrender gold she allegedly stored away.

She is charged with hoarding $50,000 in gold. Her husband assertedly told McKee she was willing to turn the gold over to the government if charges are dropped.

McKee said he telephoned U. S. Attorney Pierson Hall of Los Angeles, who said he would have to discuss the case with Attorney General Cummings before promising Mrs. Martin freedom from arrest. She has not yet surrendered.

Democrats to Hear Address By W. S. Pierce

Wilbur S. Pierce, Oakland attorney, formerly of Richmond, and well known here, will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Phelan Democratic club to be held at the Hotel Carquinez, Wednesday evening.

There will be several musical numbers on the program of entertainment.

A short business session for the election of officers will precede the open meeting scheduled for eight o'clock P. M. L. J. Thomas, recently appointed acting postmaster of Richmond and president of the club for the year, will preside for the last time before handing over the gavel to his successor.

BURLINGAME MAN HERE

Dr. H. E. Milnes pastor of the Methodist church at Burlingame, visited with his brother, G. E. Milnes, for a short time yesterday.

A large crowd is expected to attend the dance to be given next Saturday evening at Memorial hall by the Young Ladies Institute and the Young Men's Institute of this city.

Gay Vargas orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion. Dancing will start at 8:30 in the evening and continue until 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

DOCK LEASE WILL BRING BIG TONNAGE

Forty-five thousand square feet of wharf No. 3, on the inner harbor, has been leased by the Parr Terminal corporation to Dried Fruit Shippers, Inc., for a term of five years at a monthly rental of $675, which with the charge on tonnage passing over the docks means an additional revenue for this port of about $15,000 a year.

Dried Fruit Shippers, Inc., represents the tonnage of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' association, and by the terms of the lease at least 50,000 tons per year will be handled at this port, resulting in a substantial revenue to the city of Richmond and the Parr company.

In addition to the monthly rental, the firm will also pay twelve and a half cents per ton on all goods passing over the docks.

The lease is signed by J. D. Cavallaro, president, and Milton D. Sapir, secretary for the shipping company and Fred D. Parr, president, and Thomas A. Goodrick, secretary for the Parr corporation.

A copy of the lease was presented to the council last evening by City Attorney T. M. Carlson, who stated that he thought the efforts of Parr in securing this large additional amount of tonnage for this port, was a very important matter.

"As important as the revenue is the fact that this amount of tonnage will preserve and insure steamship service and terminal rates for the Port of Richmond," said Carlson.

By the unanimous vote of the council a resolution was adopted commending Parr for his efforts in securing this additional tonnage, and his efforts in building up the business of this port.

In a letter addressed to the council, the Parr company said: "The remaining space at terminal 3, together with the other three terminals is amply sufficient to take care of any cargo that is secured or offered and is sufficiently adequate to take care of our requirements as a public terminal."

"This plan of operation becomes necessary as the result of the action by our competitors and the change in the railroad tariffs which was followed by the action of the railroad commission in preventing car unloaders to perform the service at unloading cars on docks."

The third ordinance amends the building code, and provides for certain types of roofs on classified buildings. It will come up for final passage next Monday night.

Woman Hiker Is Found Exhausted

Weak from lack of food and hiking, Miss Beatrice Amarillo, 27, was found near exhaustion at the Carquinez bridge at Crockett last night and was brought to the county hospital for treatment.

She told hospital attaches that she had walked from Weed, Siskiyou county, and was on her way to San Francisco to hunt for employment.

According to police reports, Griffin made a left hand turn on San Pablo near McBryde avenue and crashed into a machine owned by Barbotti, which was being pushed by he and two friends. Barbotti reported that the engine had stalled and that he was forced to push it into the light to examine it.

10,000 Expected To Participate In Big Parade Here Oct. 27

At least 10,000 persons are expected to participate in the NRA parade to be given here Friday evening, October 27, according to announcements made last night at a meeting held at Hotel Carquinez.

Appointments of committees featured last night's session of the group, with John A. Miller presiding. Miller has been named general chairman and Tsar N. Calfee will be assistant general chairman.

Supervisor James N. Long will be in charge of procuring speakers and City Manager J. A. McVittie will act in an advisory capacity. Police Chief L. E. Jones and Fire Chief William P. Cooper will be in charge of the parade.

The other committees appointed will be found listed at the end of this column.

Already 10 bands, including the Mare Island Navy band, have signified their intentions of participating in the event, Miller stated. There will be plenty of music.

The parade will start at 7 o'clock and will march from First street to Sixteenth and Macdonald and thence back to Memorial Hall park, where talks will be heard.

To Have 9 Divisions
In the parade, which will be of nine divisions, will march veterans, civic bodies, lodges, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, schools, PTA organizations, painters, plumbers and other laborers and many others.

Outside Town Support
Support of outside communities, including Pinole, Rodeo, Crockett, El Cerrito and San Pablo was pledged at last night's session. More than 117 persons attended the meeting.

Council Provides For Protection Of the Blind

Action on three ordinances was taken by the council at its meeting last evening.

One ordinance, which was adopted, prevents the use of white canes by anyone except the blind, and compels traffic to halt for persons using these canes.

A second ordinance which was given first reading prohibits vehicles transporting explosives or inflammables from parking either in the residential or commercial districts.

This ordinance will do away with big gasoline trucks from parking their trucks in the streets all night. Many complaints have been reported of the nuisance.

The third ordinance amends the building code, and provides for certain types of roofs on classified buildings. It will come up for final passage next Monday night.

Startles Golfers

MISS GLORIA MINOPRIO provided a sensation in the English Women's Golf Championships at Westward Ho, England, when she appeared on the links wearing peg-top trousers. She also carried one club, to prove her contention that golfers do not need their usual assortment, but lost her match.

COAST GRID TEAMS READY FOR CONTEST

MORAGA, Oct. 16—UP—The Gaels of St. Mary's were back home today, already looking ahead to their important inter-sectional clash with Fordham on Nov. 4. They will play their next game against Nevada at San Francisco Oct. 27. Ed Gilbert, line man, was hailed as a hero of the U. S. C. game, won by the Trojans 14 to 7.

BEKELEY, Oct. 16—UP—The Cal-

Gonia Bears, heartened by the smoothness of their attack in downing Olympic club after first stopping St. Mary's drilled today for their conference opener against Washington State at Pullman Saturday.

PAID ALTO, Oct. 16—UP—Stanford's gridmen, held to a 9 to 0 tie by Northwestern, are due here tomorrow to get the train kinks out of their legs just in time to meet San Francisco university at Kezar stadium next Saturday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16—UP—The Dons of U. S. P. drilled hard today to prevent a recurrence of costly errors committed against Oregon State Saturday. The Beavers were led to a 14 to 7 victory by Norman Franklin, fleet halfback who ran 95 yards returning the opening kickoff for the first score and passed 32 yards for the second.

GOLDEN BEARS TO MEET WITH COUGAR ELEVEN

BERKELEY, Oct. 16, California faces the big football hurdle this week.

The big hurdle is Washington state college.

The Cougars have been a standard block for the Bears at the meeting of the Conference scheduled for more years than the Bears are to think about. And this year they must face these same Cougars on their own home field.

California has never before traveled to Pullman, although the Bear-Cougar game of 1931 was played in Portland, Oregon. All of the other games in the series have been played at Berkeley.

In 1920, when they won 16 to 0; in 1921, when they lost 13 to 0; and in 1922, when they were again the victors, 7 to 2 the Northwest gridgers invariably gave the Bears one of the toughest games on the schedule of those years.

No one can remember back to the time when the Cougars lost a game on their home field, and they have won some brilliant victories including a 7 to 6 affair with the Trojans of U. S. C. which clinched the Conference championship of 1930, and brought Rose Bowl honors to Hollingbery's galaxy of stars.

Couch W. A. "Bill" Ingram announced today that he will take the full playing strength of the California varsity—36 players—to Pullman next Wednesday night.

The Golden Bears will not stop in Pullman but will make Lewiston, Idaho, their headquarters until the day of the game, traveling the 32 miles to Pullman by bus Saturday morning. The make-up of the squad, while fairly definite now, will be determined by possible interchanging of a few varsity and California Rambler players this week.

The Cougars, losers a little over a week ago to the champion Trojans, are still rated as one of the potentially dangerous teams of the Coast and next Saturday may be the day when they will lift the lid. With a squad composed largely of veterans and with 19 letters on the roster, Coach "Babe" Hollingbery appears to be well equipped to meet anything the Bears will be able to throw at him.

Speaking Of Sports

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 16—UP—There may be a few new faces in the New York Yankee lineup next season, but for the most part the club will be made up of those players who finished behind the Senators in the 1933 American league race. Joe McCarthy, manager, who is spending the winter in Buffalo, told the United Press.

"I expect to do a little analyzing and have some great prospects to look over, but as for tearing down my ball club and rebuilding, that's a lot of bunk," McCarthy said.

"Why, the figures will show you that the Yanks played the best ball in either league in the last four weeks, and that with Dickey and Lazzari out of the game. That sort of performance doesn't indicate that the outfit needs any rebuilding."

Silent On Ruth
As for Babe Ruth, McCarthy had nothing to say, but he indicated that he was counting on Dixie Walker in next season's plans, either in Earl Combs' place in center field or the right field place of Ruth.

He blamed the failure of the Yankees in the 1933 race on the pitching staff.

"Johnny Allen was shy a little in strength and Ruffing didn't perform up to last year," he said. "But we played good enough baseball to win 91 games. That's pretty near a winning ball, and the Senators were able to do just a little better."

He played with the camp team after joining the C. C. C. and had a very good season.

The DAILY WASHINGTON

MERRY GO ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—Secretary Wallace and his Brain Trust assistants are seriously considering the possibility of making milk a public utility.

Agriculture Department authorities say there is no real excess of milk in the United States, but under-consumption due to unemployment together with high prices charged by monopolistic distributors. The experts believe the milk marketing agreements are not meeting the milk problem, and that the best solution would be to declare the production and sale of the commodity a public utility.

Thus, the proponents hold, the government could force a material reduction in cost to the consumer, thereby appreciably increase purchases.

HARD-BOILED

The other day Madame Perkins, forthright Secretary of Labor, nominated Paul Pizott of Seattle to be Washington State Director of the National Re-Employment Service and wired Senator Homer Bone of Washington for his approval.

Idealistic Senator Bone received the telegram, conferred with his ex-Secretary Sol Haas, now collector of the Port of Seattle.

"Can she really mean Pizott?" they exclaimed, "the notorious strike breaker, the man who has fought the battle of the power companies?"

So Senator Bone wired back to Madame Perkins describing the appointment as incredible. He offered to suggest several names in Pizott's place.

His only answer was the definite appointment of Pizott. Madame Secretary is getting hard-boiled.

NEW DEBT DEAL

The row over the collection of bad debts sown broadcast by American bankers for unsuspecting American bondholders during the Coolidge era, has now been settled.

Neither the bankers nor a government-formed agency will attempt to gather in the sadly shrunk debts.

Instead a group of distinguished and unprejudiced citizens will form a committee to do the job. It will be completely independent of the government and also of the bankers.

Every day the mail brings thousands of dollars in deposits to Bank of America. Some of this money comes from individuals living in isolated localities—owners of rural filling stations, farmers, and mine workers. But much of it comes from men and women living in the cities—men and women who for one reason or another find it inconvenient to visit the bank. For these the corner mail box becomes a teller window. As a result, Bank of America has the largest deposit-by-mail patronage in the West.

INDIGENTS TO BE SUPPLIED BREAD TICKETS

The board of supervisors yesterday went on record as being in favor of supplying indigents with bread that was produced in this county. The method of handling the tickets, that are to be issued, has not yet been determined.

Supervisor James N. Long informed the supervisors that bakers of the county had urged him to present to the board a request that only county baked bread be supplied indigents as a means of providing encouragement to home industry. Long suggested that the tickets might be issued, with the amount of tickets issued being deducted from the bi-monthly allowances made to indigents by the county.

A plan of ticket issuance was not adopted, it being determined that a conference should first be held with bakers by Mrs. Ruth McCord, director of the county social service bureau, to discuss a distribution plan.

The conference will be held this week. The plan will be laid before the board again then for a formal order.

County Educators Will Arrange Meet

Educators attending must pay their own expenses since the last legislature abolished state sponsored conventions.

12 YEARS OF STEADILY DECREASING ELECTRIC RATES

IN 1921 you who are domestic customers of Pacific Gas and Electric Company paid an average of 7.02 cents per kilowatt hour of electricity.

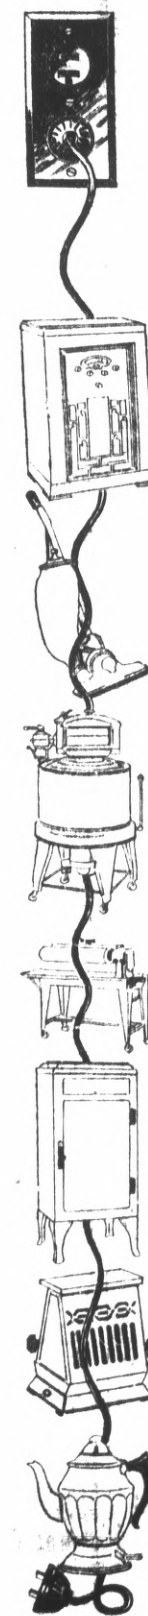

In 1932 you paid but 4.23 cents.

Rates today are virtually 40 per cent lower than they were twelve years ago.

Rates for electricity have steadily trended downward. Reduced rates have brought about increased use of electricity. But it has not been an overnight increase.

People cannot use more electricity until they have bought additional appliances.

Ranges, water heaters, refrigerators, radios, washing machines, ironers—all these must come into the homes, increasing the use of electricity and making rate reductions possible. And putting them in the homes is a slow process, particularly when money is scarce.

If electricity's cost were cut squarely in two tomorrow, your bill would be reduced, of course; but it would not necessarily mean your using more electricity.

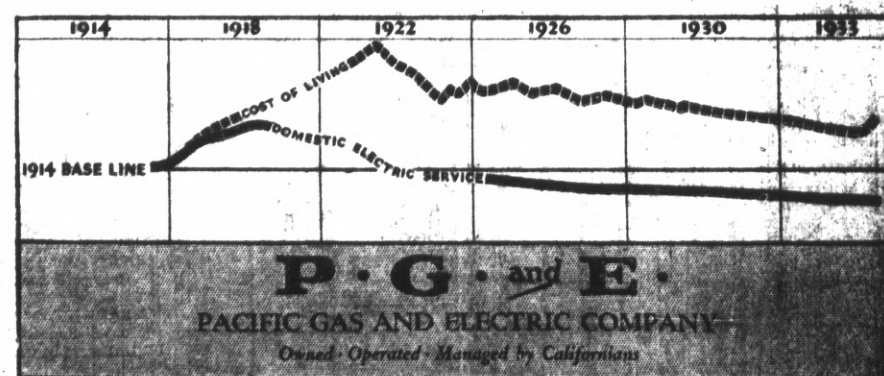

That would not happen until you had bought that range or refrigerator, and if your income is budgeted you would probably spread these purchases over several years.

Meantime your company, with a totally inadequate income, would scarcely be able to maintain adequate service.

Rare reductions necessarily must be made with some sense of scientific adjustment.

Rates are maintained always at the lowest possible cost that is consistent with the best possible service.

Prices of all other commodities are well above the 1914 level and are once again climbing. Electricity is 25 per cent below that level.

RICHMOND CLUB ANTIQUITY DAY IS CELEBRATED

What was said to have been a record crowd attended the Antiquity Day celebration held yesterday at the Richmond clubhouse under direction of members of Richmond club.

There were many beautiful exhibits of early Americana, including clothes, furniture and household articles.

One of the features of the exhibit was a 200 year old spinning wheel demonstration made by Mrs. Frank Brown.

The program for the day was quite novel and interesting. "Wild Lilies" was the name of the play presented, under the direction of Mrs. Chapin. Some of the dresses used in this production by members of the cast were made in 1850.

The cast, which acquitted itself in a manner that earned well merited applause, included Jacqueline Clements and Florence Louise Viano, two six year old children; Mrs. Virginia Bryant, Mrs. Ruth Parker, Mrs. Leo Viano, Mrs. Helen Macintosh and Mrs. Chapin.

In addition to the play there were musical numbers. Mrs. Miriam Wilson and Mrs. Ruth Parker were soloists and Jacqueline Clements and Florence Louise Viano played piano selections.

Miss Bernice Mills, well known local pianist, was a guest artist on the program.

The affair was voted as the most successful held by Richmond Club in many months.

They opened the program with a Gommance dance, given by all four of the men. Leno then sang a favorite Indian melody in his own tongue. The Eagles dance was given by the group and then Hunt and Leno presented an Indian lullaby in their language.

After the program, Masons and their friends, who attended the program, were served light refreshments.

Your Good HEALTH

By CLAUD N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

Co-operate With Your Doctor and You Will Keep Healthy

YOUR physician is just a little different from anyone else you do business with. You are expected to go to him for your periodic physical examination whether you feel ill or not. You do not feel badly but he has advised you to come in for a check up. This is not only to find any trouble that may be starting but to give him a working knowledge of your physical machinery when you are well.

HE EXAMINES you carefully, from head to foot. If you are absolutely well, it is not very interesting to him, except that a well person is rare. He questions you as to your habits and advises you as to the correction of them. When he finds some little thing wrong he tells you what it is and why and how to prevent its progress. All this is to keep you well and add to be comfortable and to have a pleasant prolonged life.

IT ALSO hurts him financially and ruins what might be some very profitable sickness for him. He also advises you about how to care for your children so that they may grow up strong, mentally and physically. He instructs you how to prevent contagion, how to eat, drink, sleep and live so that you and yours may, so far as possible, be free from disease, pain and suffering.

HIS aim is to preserve your health and prolong your life. This enables you to carry on your business so that you may care for those who depend on you. If you are successful in your life to come into your home, he instructs you how to care for it from the very start. How the mother should eat, how she should exercise so that this young one may come into the world well prepared for the trials and struggles of this life. He outlines her actions and habits in such a way that she may go through this trial without undue distress and may emerge from it a healthier and happier woman.

THE doctor further tells you what to do for the children; how to feed them, how to care for their teeth, their hair, skin and digestion. Some things must be removed and some must be developed. Then he instructs you in how to keep them safe from contagious diseases. He can probably give you some valuable information as to how to train them, what to expect of them, and how to deal with them. He is a family doctor and yet he is outside the family and yet he is inside it. He is a sort of father-confessor to you in your family troubles.

IT IS practically impossible for a family to live in perpetual accord. You take your troubles to him. You find him has an uncanny habit of seeing both sides of a situation, and as he is a friend of all concerned, his counsel will often be of exceeding value. In spite of all his care and your care sickness will come. Then he is a friend, whenever you call comes, day or night, summer or winter, sunshine or snow, he responds without any thought of himself. He may be tired and hungry and not feeling well himself, but he is expected to come to you full of good cheer and helpfulness.

HE ENCOURAGES you, advises you for confidence, explaining that trust cannot be helped and that sickness and accidents are certain to come sooner or later. He will inform you that your illness is not a punishment but a natural law that we are not yet able to circumvent. He will do all in human power to help you get well promptly, with as little suffering as possible. If he has your cooperation, Co-operation is, after all, the secret of success in this connection as in many others.

Cucumbers for Flavor
Cucumbers add their crispness and fine flavor to salad. While our recipe calls for boiled scallops, shrimp or canned crabmeat can be substituted if you wish. Boil one pint of scallops until they are tender. Cut into small slices and mix with one cup diced cucumbers and one cup diced celery. Blend together with mayonnaise and season to taste with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Some people think that a dash of red pepper gives zest to a seafood salad and you may try it if you wish. A teaspoon of finely grated onion or onion juice also adds interest if you care for the onion flavor.

CONSTANT CARE IS NECESSARY TO GOOD LOOKS

By JACQUELINE HUNT

CARELESSNESS, hurry and worry are the three enemies that are most detrimental to the good looks of the older woman. Such a woman usually has responsibilities such as earning a livelihood or caring for her family, that demand so much of her time and energies that she too often forgets the necessity of patting her hair into place or powdering her nose every so often.

She seems to get into the frame of mind that "it just doesn't matter," or that she is "getting along in years," and she lets the worries of keeping up her home come before any thoughts of beauty care. If only she could be made to realize how important good looks really are! So much more important as a woman grows older! Somehow, straggly hair seems all the more straggly and unkempt when it begins to turn gray. A costume that doesn't fit or a hat that is very looks far worse on a woman who is no longer young.

Meticulous grooming is essential to beauty when you are over forty. If you are a busy, responsible person, that is all the more reason why you should pay stricter attention to details. If you have only a minimum of time to devote to yourself, be all the firmer about taking advantage of the few minutes you have and resort to treatments that will "tide you over" until you have more leisure.

Hurry and worry are the first things that should be eliminated from your life. How? By making yourself a daily schedule and forcing yourself to follow it, even though it seems almost impossible at first. When you try to hurry through your tasks without a system you become nervous and flustered, and your work is done in a hasty and discouraging. Allot just so many tasks each day and go about them as quickly and calmly as you can.

The first beauty treatment that is essential is absolute cleanliness. You will find that your skin is brighter and your hair more lustrous if you keep it immaculate—and you will find that your daily cleansing bath is an invaluable means of relaxation. While your tub is running full, apply a generous film of cold cream to your face, hands and arms. Remove the soiled oil with cleansing tissues, then wash thoroughly with soap and tepid water. Rinse and apply a second film of cream before you slip into your tub.

Lather your body with soap and relax in the warm water for ten or fifteen minutes, then get out and dry quickly with a warm towel. Wipe the cream off your skin and pat your face with skin tonic or ice water. Massage more cream into your hands, pushing back the cuticles as you do so, and then retire immediately while you are comfortably relaxed.

Do not thrash over the problems of the day when you go to bed, or your rest will be of little benefit to you. Make an effort to lay aside your troubles and get as many hours of refreshing sleep as you can. Bathing your head with cologne, taking a warm drink, or relaxing exercises are tricks that will help you sleep well. Or, if you must, there are gentle, non-habit-forming, sedative drugs that your doctor can prescribe for you.

After a good night's rest, your face will look fresh and clear, and it's a good idea to touch it up with a bit of rouge and powder whether your first appearance is at the family breakfast table or at an office. See that your hair looks just right and that your dress is fresh and becoming. Sometime before lunch, and again before dinner, take a few minutes for relaxation and freshening your make-up. You will be repaid with the appreciation of your family, and your own self-respect will go up in leaps and bounds.

When there are so many demands on your energy, a well-balanced diet—including energy giving foods like bread, meat and milk and fresh vegetables in order—is essential.

Tasty Dishes for Today SPECIAL FOOD FOR THE SICK

By JUDITH WILSON

COOKING for someone who is ill or who has been ill is a problem that every homemaker must face at some time or another. While the patient is really ill and is reduced to a liquid diet, the problem is not so difficult but when he is making rapid improvement and demands a more substantial diet the trouble begins.

His appetite is apt to be poor and the homemaker must provide variety to tempt him. Yet she is limited to easily digested, nutritive foods like milk, eggs, fruits and a few finely sieved vegetables.

Strained Foods
Anyone cooking for an invalid or convalescent will be wise to invest in several — or several dozen — of the small cans of pureed vegetables and fruits that are prepared especially for babies. These products are cooked carefully to preserve their vitamins and are unseasoned, making them specially desirable for invalid diets. They will save you hours of time that you would otherwise spend cooking these strained fresh vegetables. In addition to these advantages, they are so good that many of the recipes for desserts, soups and main dishes will appeal to the rest of the family, so you needn't prepare an entire separate menu for the patient.

A Gay Tray
In arranging the patient's tray, remember that unusual garnishes, fresh flowers or gay collies and pretty dishes will make a plain meal twice as appealing. These recipes will help you achieve variety as well as balance in his menus.

Cream of Spinach
For the cream of spinach soup — and this recipe will serve six — there is enough for every one — chop one-third cup of celery leaves fine and cook in three tablespoons butter until slightly brown. Add two tablespoons flour, salt to taste and two and one-half cups of milk. Cook until smooth and add one or two small cans of pureed spinach.

Utilize Canned Milk
When the patient tires of fresh milk in the diet, you can often tempt him with evaporated milk made into nourishing drinks and desserts. The evaporated milk has a distinctive flavor that may appeal to him. For a delightful egg-nog, separate the white and yolk of a fresh egg and beat the yolk with one tablespoon of honey and a few grains of salt. Add three-fourths of a cup of evaporated milk diluted with three-fourths of a cup of water. Fold in the egg white stiffly beaten, pour into a tall glass and sprinkle with nut-

New York — The business woman and the commuter hold almost a hallowed regard for the type of costume that may be worn around the clock and for obvious reasons, but in addition to their large number, a great many others are constantly in the search for this precious type. Fortunately and literally they are suitable for breakfast, and they must be just as correct for the spectator at outdoor sports events, shopping, luncheon, bridge, theater or tea. Even though the dress is not worn for one continued round of three events, the tailored and sophisticated quality of the dress must be such as to be taken to any or all of these functions.

Heavy Weaves
Fabric that was replete with a great deal to imply the problem of selection — provided that the dress itself stays within the bounds of the tailored sophistication and quality just mentioned. In such there is a heavy weave that are intentionally so much like woollens have much to be said for them while coolers that have the new formalities likewise can be considered a fit member of a participant of an all-day fashion party.

Black Suede Shoes
Black suede shoes unquestionably had their models which are enjoying good demand including a three-eveled Oxford, an opera pump, and a wide-strap pump with gold buckles.

Bright greens, reds, blues, brown, hunter gold, just, heliotrope, and some pastels such as yellow, gold, deep salmon — they were on the fall palette for sweaters.

Bright tops with dark skirts or dark tops with light skirts, and in very high style light tops for the entire sweater ensemble — the rule is not to be so simple.

The recurrence of slit hemlines is commented upon and attention directed to the wide choice in this treatment for evening, ranging from the flowing split train, to toe-length skirts which may have four slits, and the bouffant treatment which may be split high at front.

Stains should be attended to before the stained article is laundered. For if stains are over-looked and allowed to boil into the material, they often are made last permanently.

This Paris creation is called a cocktail suit. But even if you don't drink, you can still wear it, for it's in excellent taste for many occasions. The coat-front and bottom of the sleeves are of white ermine. Mainbocher completes the outfit with a velvet hat and ostrich feather.

France's Perennial Minister . . . Albert Sarraut

THE word perennial is usually applied to flora and fauna, but in France, Albert Sarraut, Minister of Marine, has bobbed up so often in French cabinets in various capacities that he has come to be known as the "perennial minister." Incidentally, his only rivals in this distinction were Aristide Briand and Paul Painleve.

Most French statesmen, and as a matter of fact, diplomats and other government officials of any nation, are drawn from the ranks of lawyers, doctors, journalists, or bankers. Sarraut, without as much as a smile, calls himself a "publicist," which may mean anything, but in reality he was a small town newspaper publisher. In addition, he has had a more active life, perhaps more replete and dramatic in personal dangers and mishaps, than most men trained for the army or navy.

For example, Sarraut was seriously wounded in a duel with M. Pugliesi-Conti, during the early Clemenceau regime; attempts were made on two occasions to assassinate him; he once was shipwrecked and at another time thrown into a turbulent river when a bridge upon which he was walking collapsed. Once he remarked regarding his coming chairman's life: "If only I need twelve days to recover from anything, and I'm back on the job."

At an early age, Sarraut foresaw that provincial newspapers could be made to wield political power, if they were divorced from their dependency upon the large Paris dailies. Accordingly, he and his brother purchased controlling interest in a small newspaper in the city of Toulouse, in southern France, and made it one of the most powerful organs in that section of the country. This influence was enlarged with the creation of a news service which eventually liberated southwest France from an unhealthy dependence upon Paris editors.

RESTRICTION to one field was not for a man of Sarraut's intellect. Business attracted him for a time, and then he turned his hand to writing three books on government and political economy. Shortly after the turn of the century he sought public office, and as he had foreseen, his path was easier because of his newspaper background. Added to this was a sharp wit, timed with abundant tact, and ability for organizing.

In 1902, he went to the Chamber of Deputies from the Aude, and later he acted as under-secretary of state in the Sarrien and Clemenceau cabinets. In 1909, Briand chose him for Secretary of War. Two years later, when Briand was Premier, he was packed off to Indo-China as governor of that troubled French possession, a post which has been the political graveyard of more than one ambitious Frenchman.

Sarraut regarded this responsible position as political exile, and by ingenious wire-pulling he got himself transferred back to Paris to become Minister of Public Instruction. It is interesting to note that he returned to Paris with several bullets in his chest, the gift of a native rebel.

In Paris once again, the Vichy regime found Sarraut's vitality just a bit embarrassing politically, and shortly after the fall of that cabinet, Clemenceau, who succeeded to power, sent Sarraut, for sobering purposes, back to Saigon. The legend is that Sarraut then resolved that his only means of returning to Paris was to become so beligerently efficient a colonial minister that he would be necessary to be recalled as minister of colonies. That was exactly what happened; not, however, before he had escaped another world-war as assassin's bomb.

During the post-war years, Sarraut served under Herriot, Painleve and Briand. When Marine Minister Leygues died some time ago, Sarraut was his logical successor, since he manifestly knew more of overseas affairs than any man acceptable to Premier Daladier.

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "When a girl and male escort are dining in a restaurant and the girl wishes cigarettes, should she pay for the cigarettes?" K. D.

ANSWER: Of course, it would be well in a situation like this for the girl to have provided herself with cigarettes. However, if she has inadvertently forgotten to do this, it is all right for her escort to pay for a package. In most instances he would be delighted to do so.

SOME WOMEN LOVE TO PLAY AT BEING SICK

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

THE papers recently have been carrying stories to the effect that ill health has flourished during the enforced idleness due to the depression. What do you make of that? Is it that the financially depressed have not wished to contract doctors' bills which they thought they would be unable to pay? Or have they let their ill health grow into a big ones, or is it because, having more time on their hands to think about themselves and to develop symptoms, they have reacted to them?

THERE is food for spirited discussion there. I, for one, am on the side of those who believe the latter condition to be the case. Active women have very little time to think about whether they are 100 per cent fit or not, and on the whole, it is best. Most of us can dig up an ailment or two, had we the time and the inclination. Those of us with normal bodies find, to our delight, that with the little ill flesh is heir to, take care of themselves. Nature affects its own cure.

A WOMAN, possibly the last woman in the world one would expect to voice such a sentiment, remarked to me recently, that she just loved hospitals. On being quizzed as to just how she meant this extraordinary statement, she declared that she thought there was nothing lovelier than to go to a hospital and get waited on. "When you are perfectly well!" I gasped. "Yes, indeed—well, but tired out," was her response.

ANY doctor will tell you that there are women who just adore playing sick. They revel in the fuss made over them and the attention they receive from everyone—in short, they thoroughly enjoy ill health. Even so, staging one's little comedy in a hospital seems going to unnecessary extremes, but there you are with a statement from an otherwise sane and healthy woman to prove that women do enjoy playing at being a sick-aid lady.

LADIES of the old school were always interesting (?) semi-invalids and considered robust health something of a vulgarity. But we had every reason to hope we had outgrown this attitude, and every reason to believe that women were glorying in their ability to keep fit and to take pride in having bodies that functioned as a healthy body should. We have certainly grown to regard good health and beauty as synonymous. If violet shadows seem to make eyes more interesting, the shadows are applied deliberately and are regarded attractive than those acquired by some out-of-control within one's innards.

NATURALLY, those who have had enforced idleness through the depression may have worried themselves into a very unfavorable physical as well as mental condition. Sleeplessness and high nervous tension, naturally take their toll of our bodies. Men and women who are accustomed to going to bed tired out physically find it difficult to get a good night's sleep when they are forced to remain after a day of idleness, especially when they are mentally disturbed. And it is at such times, when one is tossing and turning in bed instead of sleeping that wicked, ugly little worms come out and go on the forehead of ones bed leering at you. Imagining one sees this or that disease is not much less difficult to bear than really having it, which is something we forget when we find it impossible to sympathize with hypochondriacs.

THE really sensible woman who has had idleness thrust upon her, uses it as far as she is able to do so in resting and outdaring up her strength. Very busy people, and especially those who are intensely nervous, are very difficult in relaxing. They never have time really to let down and to relax, which is the only possible way one can rest. It may make more mental control than most of us have to be serene though jobless, but what a boon to our bodies could we but manage to look upon unemployment as a golden opportunity to rest.

Drip Coffee
Drip coffee is the clearest and—to some—the choicest drink of all. A special type of pot is needed, and it should be pre-heated by allowing scalded water to stand in it. The finely ground coffee of any preferred blend is put in the upper compartment, then boiling water is poured over it. The pot is then until all the water has dripped through.

There are many such mothers, who through being too devoted to their children or too lazy to cook for themselves, make themselves weak and anemic. But good health in a mother is as necessary as common sense. Indeed one is contingent upon the other.

A mother has other duties than to her child as every wise parent knows. She must consider her own health as important for the sake of her child and children yet to come. Children have a right to a mother's best self, and specifically, an enduring best self. This is impossible without good health and steady nerves.

Hull feels that whatever may happen to the present conference, the disarmament movement must not be abandoned. He contemplates with a shudder the thought of reversion to a policy of armed nationalism. Hence whatever Davis has to say, it is understood, will be in very general terms, contrived to support the ideal of disarmament, but not to alien the United States with any action in Europe.

During recent months, it was recalled, the United States has joined with France and Great Britain in opposing Germany's immediate rearmament. The United States took this position not in defense of the Versailles treaty, restricting German arms, but because it felt that the rearmament of any power was opposed to the purpose of the Geneva conference.

Now, it is felt, the whole situation at Geneva has changed due to Germany's withdrawal from the conference. At the moment, and perhaps even more in the future, the issue of German rearmament will center around French and British insistence that Germany respect the terms of the Versailles treaty.

The United States, having refused to ratify that treaty, does not intend to become involved in a political controversy containing the peril of war over its execution.

It has been pointed out that part of the Versailles treaty—the armament section—also is contained in the German-American treaty of 1933. Thus the United States, as Hull verified for questioners last week, has a legal basis to protest Germany's rearm.

EL CERRITO IS TO JOIN NRA PARADE

The council of El Cerrito at its meeting Monday night accepted an invitation extended by Supervisor J. N. Long in behalf of the Richmond NRA committee, to participate in the parade to be held in Richmond October 27, and endorsed the movement.

City Engineer H. L. Chapman will meet with the NRA committee some time this week in regards to opening a registration office in the engineering office. At the present time El Cerrito residents are registering with the committee in Richmond.

On a motion of Councilman Peter Larson the council appointed John E. O'Brien as a special officer to work at the El Cerrito Kennel club in place of W. E. Allen who resigned.

Councilman W. F. Huber informed the council that the State compensation fund would not allow any increase in the compensation of O. Christofani, who was injured while working on the storm sewer on Fairmont. Christofani is now receiving $417 a week and has asked for an increase in the compensation.

On the recommendation of the city planning commission the council granted a temporary permit to C. Bisio to operate a fruit stand at 689 San Pablo avenue.

The council denied the application of Louis Stahl to operate a used car yard at San Pablo and Manila avenues. Councilman Phil A. Lee who made the motion stated that he was against allowing any more wrecking places to locate on San Pablo avenue.

Jap Editor to Be Buried At Home in Japan

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 16.—UP.—The body of D. Inazo Nitobe, deceased editor of the Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi, tonight was to be sent to Vancouver, B. C., for cremation, following funeral services here today.

His ashes will be sent to Japan. Civic and provincial officials, clergymen, and prominent educators gathered to pay tribute to the famous man who was Japan's representative at the recent Institute of Pacific Relations at Banff. Dr. Nitobe died last night following an operation necessitated by pneumonia.

Sympathy was extended to Nitobe's widow the former Mary Patterson Elkington of Philadelphia. They had been married for 22 years and adopted two Japanese children.

Oregon Will Act on Rum Control

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 16.—UP.—The Oregon Legislature will convene its special session November 29, Governor Julius L. Meier announced today.

The governor set the date following receipt of a letter from Harry Hopkins, national relief administrator, declaring Federal aid would terminate unless the State acted to raise funds also.

Although primarily called for enactment of unemployment relief measures and liquor control, it is probable relief for financially distressed school districts and new bus and truck regulations would be considered.

Nevada, Utah Plan For NRA Is Fought

RENO, Nev., Oct. 16.—UP.—Congressman James Scrugham tonight proposed to divorce Nevada from an "unholy alliance" with Utah.

Federal activities in Nevada now directed from Salt Lake City include R. F. C. Public Works administration, R. A. C. C. C. C. Indian service and prohibition enforcement. Scrugham claimed: "Some officials in Washington seem to have created a new state—Utah-Nevada," said the congressman. "I intend to file suit for divorce on behalf of Nevada."

The Nevada State Journal, Democratic, and Reno Evening Gazette, Republican, leading State party organs, backed Scrugham's plan.

Drowned Man Has Been Identified

The body of a drowned man recovered near the Richmond San Rafael ferry last Monday was identified yesterday as that of Fred J. Russell, of San Francisco.

Russell disappeared from his home in San Francisco on September 28. His overcoat and a suicide note were found on the bay shore later.

The body was identified by a friend, L. B. O'Brien.

AWNING DAMAGED
Richmond firemen yesterday extinguished a blaze that damaged the awning at the Veale hotel. It is believed that the fire was caused by a carelessly dropped cigarette.

SUPERVISORS CUTS NUMBER OF PRECINCTS

Yesterday the board of supervisors at its meeting in Martinez authorized County Clerk S. C. Wells to consolidate the 155 precincts of the county for the special election on December 19 on the central valley water project referendum and fixed the compensation of election officers at $5 and fixed a maximum of $3 for hall rentals.

Consolidation of the precincts to provide 81 voting places is probable.

The supervisors took under advisement a plea by George Imbach, Richmond councilman, and Charles W. Lyon, field representative of the National Re-Employment Service of the department of labor, that the county provide $150 monthly and furnishings for conduct of a re-employment service office in Richmond. The office, it was said, is intended to serve the whole county.

Signed by eleven employees of the county hospital, a letter was submitted to the board of supervisors asking that salaries be raised, that one day off be allowed each week and requesting that compensation be a specific amount instead of "so much and found."

The supervisors referred the request to the hospital committee. In their request, the employees stated that under the present scale married men are paid the same as single men, but that married men live at home, while single men eat and room at the hospital.

Among the signers of the petition are James Burns, R. E. Gemmett, J. L. Gullart, Otto Walter, Tony Klobus, J. Seaton, James Higuera, John Vornelius, Edward Willson, P. E. Graugen and John Carroll.

S. Carolina May Be First State To Vote Dry

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 16.—UP.—South Carolina may be the first to vote against repeal of the 18th amendment when it ballots on the 21st or repeal amendment Nov. 7, informed political observers believed here today.

Dry, thoroughly organized in every county in the state, are waging a vigorous campaign while the wet forces are contenting themselves with conducting a quiet campaign, mostly to get out the voters.

Sergt. Alvin C. York, Tennessee World War hero and ardent dry, is making three anti-repeal speeches daily and everywhere is being greeted by large crowds. Postmaster General James A. Farley, national leader of the wets, is expected to make an address here before the campaign ends.

Naval Base Site Is Viewed Here

A congressional party viewed Richmond's site for a proposed naval base at Winchester. The party made the tour on the Coast Guard tug, Golden Gate.

They were accompanied by Mayor Walter Johnson, President P. M. Sanford, of the chamber of commerce, Fred D. Parr, R. Sciaroni, of the Calwa organization, Congressman R. T. Edise, of Berkeley and officials of the Oakland and Alameda chamber of commerce.

From Richmond the committee went to Alameda and Oakland to view proposed sites there.
